Screenshots from a Smartphone

In this supplemental document, it can be seen how the questions were presented on a smart phone. As an example, the first situation is shown together with the four questions in Danish. The four questions are presented on the same page and the participant needs to scroll down to answer all the questions. Once the participant has answered the four questions, they click on Next ("Næste") and they are taken to the next situation that they are asked to evaluate.
